

33.89

The Independent,

EDITORIAL OFFICE,

No. 5 Beekman St., New York,

Sept. 6, 1864.

Private

15-6

My dear Mr. Garrison,

If I were rich instead of poor,

I would long ago

have divided my superfluous goods with the Anti-Slavery Society

But my constant struggles against the expenses of a large family, supported by a moderate income, have disallowed any inclination to help the cause with any substantial gifts. I cannot, however, see The Liberator in a struggle for its life is without sending a hand to lift it up toward future usefulness. I enclose

Fifty Dollars — wishing it were a thousand — which you will please accept with my affectionate regard. You will on no account mention this matter in The Liberator, directly or indirectly.

With my best wishes for your health and happiness, and with a constant sense of gratitude for many kindnesses received under your roof, I

Remain

Faithfully yours,

Wm. W. L. W.